Contractor sues for payment Light the Way fund falls short of goal

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

Virtually every citizen and civic group affiliated with the "Project: Let's Light the Way" Committee which had set a $100,000 fund-raising goal to light athletic fields in Romulus is being sued for payment of a $26,000 bill for work already completed on the project.

Romulus Roman has learned that citizens affiliated with the committee have been served with papers demanding payment of the project's debt.

Jacobs Electrical Construction Inc., a Troy-based contracting firm, has the papers served on committee members and organizations in Romulus in an effort to obtain the final payment for work performed in late spring and early summer, after receiving only $5,000 from the committee.

"It's a case of where a 42-member committee did the best it could to raise money and fell short," said Melvin Morgan, a local developer and chairman of the Light the Way project. "There only is $1,000 in the bank account for the committee, but we're working on plans to make payment."

According to Morgan, the committee got into difficulties shortly after the contract for the lighting was let last spring.

"The funds stopped coming in," he continued. "We had commitments for payments which weren't kept, and some people who promised us funds only came in with a portion of the original commitment.

"It's a case of where the people did the best they could, and it came up short."

At the time the contract was let for construction of the lighting, Morgan had claimed the committee had $12,000 to back the work.

However, last week Morgan revealed the committee was counting pledges as money to be used toward payments.

"We got nothing in writing, but we had commitments from civic clubs, businesses and individuals for that much money," Morgan said. "But maybe because of the economic times or something those pledges didn't come in."

Morgan added that Romulus City Attorney William Munger has contacted the attorneys for the electrical contractor to make arrangements for payment of the remaining bill.

"Through the contract, we were able to get the debt decreased to $26,000," Morgan continued. "It amounted to a $3,000 contribution to the project by the company."

Morgan said despite the papers being served on committee members, the contractor remains friendly.

"I've talked with him, and he informed me that if it was only him that was in need of the money, nothing would have happened in the courts," Morgan added. "But he has sub-contractors who must be paid for the work, so something has to be done."

"I guess you'd call this a friendly suit."

The project chairman said plans are being devised to raise the funds to make payment and is pegging his hopes on an intensive effort planned by what he called "a select committee" to obtain funds from major industries in Romulus.

"We have a list of 38 industries in the community which we intend to ask for funds," Morgan said. "They never were approached for money, and in most communities the industries become involved in these sort of civic projects.

"They have special budgets set aside for charitable donations, and this is the type of thing they become involved in."

Morgan did not furnish The Roman with a list of industries he intends to solicit for funds. However, the Roman has learned that the two largest industries in the community, General Motors Corp., which operates a parts warehouse and is building a manufacturing facility in the community, and the Kelsey Hayes Corp., which has a manufacturing facility in the city, are on the list.

"Following the contact between the attorneys, I've learned that the committee has plenty of time to raise the funds," Morgan added. "But I'd set a goal of two weeks for raising the money."

"This is unfortunate, and the less publicity given it, the better. These people on the committee did their best to raise the money and came up short. But the committee will succeed."

City may not be liable for debt of committee

Although public officials in Romulus conceivably could be liable as individuals for payment of a $26,000 debt owed a contractor for work on the "Project: Let's Light the Way" athletic field lighting program, the city government may not be liable for the debt.

Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt said Romulus City Attorney William S. Munger believes the city has no liability for unpaid bills for lights constructed on public athletic fields.

However, Troutt added he feels "some responsibility" for the debt, since it was a city park which received the lighting.

"I feel as bad about this as anyone could," Troutt said after The Romulus Roman learned members of the Light the Way Committee had been served with papers demanding payment of the debt.

"I hate to see the bad publicity come out on this, because the people involved in the work did the very best they could

'But the funds will be raised...'

for the community," he added. "But I'm confident that the payments can be reached."

"The fact is the committee never asked the industries in the community for any donations, and I see some industries which would be good for $4,000 or $5,000 in donations for the project, if only they were asked. I'm confident the committee can meet the debt."

"When you look at it realistically, it doesn't take many $500 donations to make up the debt for the work."

Troutt, along with every other elected official in the community, was listed as a member of the committee. As committee members they may be liable as individuals for the committee's debt.

"It's a case where the city has needed something for a long time and went out to get it," Troutt said. "The lights have been a big success in this community and are something to be proud of."

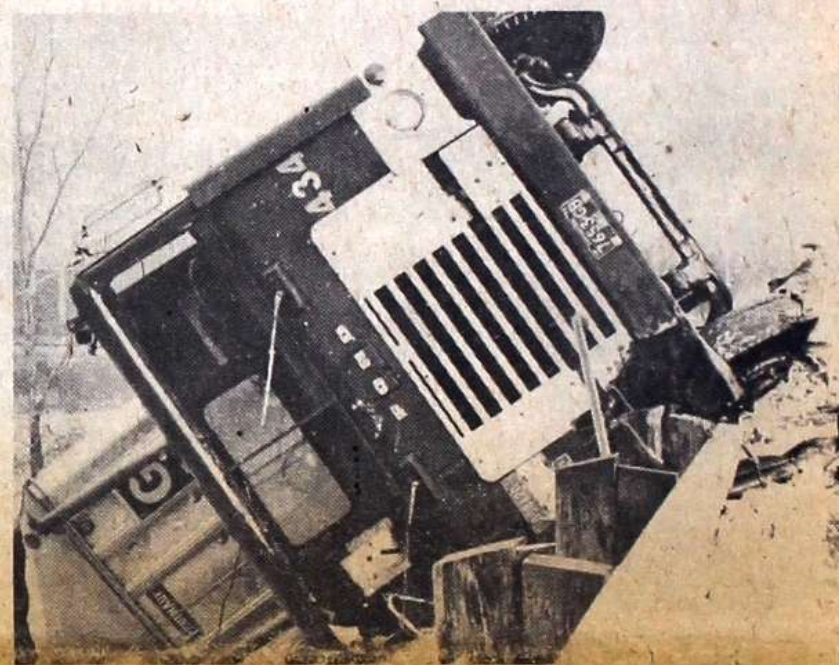

"And the people got behind it, with the Little League selling candy and the adult ballplayers selling raffle tickets to raise the funds for the lighting."

"Maybe it's the economic times or something, but the hard work couldn't come up with enough funds to meet the cost of the work."

"But the funds will be raised, because large corporations in communities often donate money for community needs, as Ford does for Dearborn."

"Romulus never has asked the industries for help other than paying their taxes, and industries help other communities."

"I'm sure they'll get behind this project in Romulus, if they're only asked."

Red-faced rollover

Great Lakes Express driver Charles Ray Smiley suffered one of life's more embarrassing moments for long-haul truck drivers when he lost control of his semi-trailer rig on east bound I-94 at Shook Road. Smiley's truck, bound for Detroit, went out of control when the right front tire blew out on the freeway, sending the vehicle into a guard rail and over on its side. According to Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol reports, Smiley suffered no injuries and no other vehicles were involved in the accident. The accident occurred Feb. 25.

His intense love of land keeps naturalist on go

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

While most kids his age want to emulate a sports hero or a world adventurer, a 16-year-old Romulus High School junior is setting a goal for himself which is more realistic and may be of more benefit to his fellow man.

But just because Rob Dugan may not want to be a ballplayer, or want to hunt rhinos in Africa, he isn't the kind of young man who would be scorned.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Dugan of Romulus wants to parlay an interest in growing living things and an intense love of the land into a career as a naturalist—one who is dedicated to saving the wilderness and making it better for those who follow him.

"I don't like it in the city," he says flatly when asked what he likes about Romulus. "On one side, there's the expressway, on another the railroad, on another the airport and on another they're building a new expressway."

"I'm not against progress, but I'm against progress simply for profit without concern for the environment or the people."

Because of his feelings on progress and the possible damage it does to the environment, Rob has made himself a member of nine environmental groups, and has made Euell Gibbons, the noted naturalist, and Badford Angier, the noted outdoors survival expert and naturalist, his heroes.

"He's probably read 30 of Angier's books on the out-of-doors, and has a full shelf of library books on the environment and ecology in his room," said Rob's mother. "While his father and I aren't what you call avid outdoors people, we encourage Rob to pursue his interest."

"Right now, I think it's a good hobby

'...I'm against progress simply for profit...'

for him, and I'm hoping he'll find it an interesting career."

Rob has concerned himself with picking courses in Romulus High School which will help him meet his career goals, studying such subjects as chemistry, advanced biology, English composition, plant science, advanced health and algebra.

And besides his regular class studies, Rob contents himself with his own research into plant growth and animal behavior.

Right now, his main project is

He's also working on budding twigs from trees into seedlings.

"I want to grow the plants for the community market to study them and to make a little money," Rob said. "I'm hoping to spend next summer in a program known as 'Outward Bound', learning wilderness survival and some appreciation of the wilderness."

"If I'm going to be a naturalist, and I'd like to work in Alaska or some other open wilderness when I'm ready, I'll need the expertise I can get in the Outward Bound program."

Last year, Rob spent five weeks of the summer at the family's trailer near Atlanta, living off the land "except for a few cans of food he took along, just in case," his mother said. "We went up one weekend to get him, but he wanted to stay, so the camping turned into a 5-week affair."

"I spent the time camping on the property and hiking through the Thunder Bay River State Forest," Rob added. "It was a camping and study trip."

"He knows all the 880-acres of the hunting club where we go in the summer," Mrs. Dugan added. "But sometimes he won't tell what he knows, because of some of his concern for the ecology."

"He knows where the deer runs are up there and where they rest," she said. "But he won't tell his father of them."

"Last year, I wanted to collect mushrooms for a place setting, and though he knew where to find them, he wouldn't help me, because of his concern."

"Sometimes it makes for good discussions at suppertime, particularly when the subject of hunting comes up with his father."

On VIP visits

Drills prepare deputies for assassination tries

By DALE GOWING
Of The Eagle Staff

Moving at a brisk but cautious pace, the Presidential motorcade rolled down the lane and entered a curve between two old brick buildings.

Suddenly and without warning, a tear gas grenade was tossed from a building onto the ground in front of the lead police car in the motorcade. At the same time, a man leaped from a doorway and began shooting at the limousine in the procession. Several other gunmen emerged from a nearby van and also opened fire on the same vehicle.

However, no one was wounded or killed, since the excitement was part of a Wayne County Sheriff's Department training exercise in preventing an assassination attempt on the President of the United States and other visiting dignitaries.

Called Operation POP, or "Protection of Principal," the training drills were conducted within the confines of the old Wayne County Child Development Center in Northville Township Thursday.

The exercises are held periodically by the Sheriff's Department with a goal of allowing as many of the department's several hundred officers as possible to receive training in how to protect a VIP during a visit to Wayne County.

"The purpose of the exercise is to protect the principal, who may be the President, a campaigning politician or visiting foreign dignitary," said Undersheriff Loren M. Pittman, who directed the simulated assassination attempts.

"With President Ford being a Michigan man, there's sure to be a lot of activity around here in 1976 with the election right around the corner," Pittman told reporters who gathered at the center to witness the drills, which strikingly were similar to the "real thing."

The drills originally were scheduled for Wednesday, but the visit by Vice-President Nelson Rockefeller to Detroit forced a 1-day postponement. Pittman said about 60 of his officers received real-life training in their assignment to protect Rockefeller.

The training drill at the Child Development Center involved several dozen deputies and officers who had to put their best skills to work in guarding the 5-car motorcade and the VIP in particular, who, in this case, was supposed to be the President.

The officers were up against several would-be "snipers" and "assassins," who actually were plain-clothes officers, seeking to "kill" the President, alias Dep. Insp. Richard Winder.

In the exercise, the security personnel were to provide safe conduct for the President for a mile-long route that ended at a "hotel in downtown Detroit," actually a classroom building at the center.

The security people were unaware of what lay ahead of them on the route, which wound around hillsides, wooded areas and a simulated downtown section with tall buildings. Newsmen were allowed to watch the action closely.

Pittman planned four simulated "problems" or attacks on the President's life along the route, with the motorcade regrouping at the starting point after each attack. Blanks were used instead of bullets, and smoke bombs represented tear gas and explosives.

The first attack occurred as the motorcade was only about 300 yards into its route, and the security officers were ruled to have thwarted the attempt on the President's successfully, although several officers and gunmen supposedly were wounded or killed in the gunfire.

The motorcade then returned to the starting point, but proceeded more cautiously through the course again, oblivious to the location of the next attack.

In that attack, which came in a wooded area, all would-be assassins but one were captured or shot. Just when the officers thought they had everything under control, the lone undetected gunman (Ptrl. Frank Longhi) managed to walk right up the Presidential limousine and fire two shots into the car before being subdued. A deputy had been protecting the "President's" body with his own, however, so the VIP was not wounded. Nonetheless, Pittman criticized the officers for "letting up" when they thought they had the situation under control.

The third and fourth simulated attacks were subdued expertly and Pittman called the work of the security officers "successful." The officers did such a thorough job of searching for suspects, in fact, that at one point they even handcuffed a newsman whom they suspected was a sniper.

The exercise ended at the classroom building or "hotel" into which the President was ushered, but not before sniper fire broke out in front of the building as a diversionary cover for the No. 1 assassin in the building. That assassin—Ptrl. Ken Evans—was apprehended before he could fire a shot.

Pittman said more assassination-prevention exercises are scheduled for the near future.

Fire fighters certified for first aid

Members of Sumpter Township's volunteer fire department have been certified to practice first aid as part of their jobs.

The fire fighters, 35 of the volunteers on the force, have completed a 22-hour standard first aid and personal safety course taught by Sumpter Police Sgt. Jerry Cox since last August.

The training is part of a continuing course which will be taught to those fire fighters interested in first aid, eventually leading to a certification in advanced first aid techniques and possible certification as an emergency medical technician.

"The goal is to provide better service to Sumpter residents who may have an accident and need the help of the fire department," Sgt. Cox explained. "Certification in the standard course allows a person to practice emergency first aid at the scene of an accident and exempts them from personal liability in the event of a suit."

Cox, an instructor for the American Red Cross, has taught first aid courses to interested persons in the township in the past.

He now is working with Augusta Township on another standard first aid course for fire fighters and other civic groups.

Eventually, he hopes to implement a 60-hour advanced first aid course for Sumpter and surrounding townships.

"Those trained in the standard course will take regular refresher courses to insure they are up to date," Cox said. "Hopefully, we'll be able to offer the advanced course, and upgrade the training a bit."

A certificate in advanced first aid is one step below a certification as an emergency medical technician, according to Cox. Certification as an emergency medical technician is the latest highest certification required of ambulance operators in many states.

Butcher trims prices for the unemployed

A Romulus butcher shop owner has initiated a discount system for the unemployed "to help the people who have helped my business."

Ron Campbell, 34, owner of Campbell's Chop Shoppe at 9275 Wayne Road in Romulus, has implemented a 10 per cent discount program for unemployed persons in an effort to help the unemployed make ends meet.

"The neighborhood near the shop has been good to me, and this is my way of saying 'thanks,'" Campbell said. "My business is good and has been good for the past two years."

"But times are bad for my neighbors, the people who have helped me during that time. It's time I helped them out."

Campbell added that any person entering his shop at Wayne Road and Wick Road in Romulus who can prove he's unemployed, will receive a discount on all items except freezer beef.

Barn builders go to market

Students in Romulus' 11th-grade building trades class are selling their class projects to Romulus-area residents.

But it's all part of a program which eventually will bring them background in virtually every skill in the construction industry, and better prepare them for work after graduation.

Terry Bird, instructor for the program, said the students have been busy delivering storage sheds shaped as barns during the past few weeks after spending the first semester constructing the projects as part of the building trades program.

"Residents from as far away as Taylor, Belleville and Wayne have made orders for the sheds," Bird said. "They're quite popular items."

But the sale of the sheds is secondary to the practical skill they gave the students in rough carpentry work during the past semester.

"The project allowed the students to practice their rough carpentry skills this semester," Bird continued. "When they work in the 12th-grade course the second year of the 2-year program, some will be able to expand their knowledge by helping build garages, and other select students will broaden their knowledge more by working on the senior home-building project."

Bird said the program is designed not only to give

"The people who are unemployed have cards they must present for their unemployment check each week and that will be identification for the program," Campbell said. "In most families, meat's the most expensive item on the grocery list, but it's also one of the most essential foods in the diet," he added. "This will make it easier on those who can't afford it right now."

Car crashes in river; 2 perish in accident

Two men perished in a late night accident in Van Buren Township when a car driven by a friend plunged into the Huron River.

Michael Raymond Hicks, 21, of 37908 Huron River Drive, Huron Township, and Clarence Edward Fry, 21, of 38407 West Vale Rd., Romulus, died when a car, driven by Jimmy Dallas Green, 19, of 46985 Ecorse Rd., Van Buren Township, crashed through a guard rail on Huron River Drive just north of the Haggerty Road intersection.

According to Wayne County Sheriff's reports, the three were driving away from the picket line at Webb Forging Co. of Van Buren Township at 11:50 p.m. Monday with another friend, William Eugene Bias, 20, of 38510 Superior Rd., Romulus, when it went out of control and crashed.

Patrolmen Kenneth Crowley and Robert Ankony of the sheriff's road patrol came upon the scene and found the car floating on the Huron River.

The two officers dove into the river and swam to the car, attempting to free Hicks, who was trapped halfway out of the rear seat of the car. But the two officers were unable to free Hicks or Fry, both of whom were in the rear seat of the car as it sunk.

The sheriff's department is awaiting word from the Wayne County Medical Examiner to determine whether the two who perished in the accident were drowned or killed by the impact of the crash.

Campbell said he will continue the offer until April 1.

"I'm hoping the unemployment problem will ease by then," he continued. "And I don't want to commit myself beyond then because of the uncertainty of meat prices to me."

"I can say, though, depending on the prices, if unemployment continues the offer will continue as long as I'm sure it's helping anyone."

"But let's say that I'm hoping unemployment ends by then, and my neighbors are back to work."

"I'm happy to offer the district, but I hate to see my neighbors in this bad situation."

Under the program, an unemployed person would receive a 12-cent discount on a pound of ground chuck and a 10-cent discount on a beef roast.

Campbell said despite the discount, his butchers will continue to make custom cuts for customer orders without extra charge.

HELPING THE NEIGHBORS — Ron Campbell (behind the counter), owner of Campbell's Chop Shoppe at Wayne Road and Wick Road in Romulus, waits for a customer to make his selection during Campbell's offer of a 10 per cent discount to all unemployed persons until April 1 at his shop. Campbell said he intends to continue the program into April to help the residents of the neighborhood surrounding the shop. "They've helped my business, and it's time for me to help them in their time of need," Campbell said. — The Romulus Roman photo.

Voters consider millage

VAN BUREN TOWNSHIP — The Van Buren Board of Education will be asking voters for a 6-mill renewal March 25. The board voted to approve the renewal question at the request of Van Buren School Supt. Dale E. Kaulitz. The Van Buren Public School District levies 26.65 mills for operating expenses. The 6-mill package would raise $1.56 million of the district's $9.1 million budget for fiscal 1974-75.

District may cut back

VAN BUREN TOWNSHIP — The Van Buren Board of Education has been told that the school district may have to face personnel cuts in next year's budget unless economics change drastically in Michigan. Jack Hosmer, the district's director of business said that expenditures will outstrip revenues in the fiscal 1975-76 budget for the district.

Land won't be rezoned

BELLEVILLE — The members of the Belleville City Council said the annexation of 41 acres of land in Van Buren Township to Belleville will not result in rezoning that land to apartment uses. The five said the annexation, being pursued by Seligman Associates, a local developing firm, has nothing to do with changing the land from a single family to apartment zoning, despite charges by Van Buren Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer that the annexation is part of a "2-step deal" to win apartments by Seligman.

As we see it

Private sector holds recovery key

More than a century ago Thomas Carlyle described economics as "the dismal science". Arthur D. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, reminded Congress of that, urging that the gloomy forecasts coming from many economists be taken with a grain of salt. Burns believes the President's Council of Economic Advisers is too pessimistic in doubting whether we can anticipate a turnaround in the recession in 1975 after all. President Ford also is warning against a panicky reaction to economic news, especially the recent report that the unemployment rate had reached 8.2 per cent, the highest since 1941. The economic picture in this state looks worse, though.

Just how bad is our economic situation?

There is an old truism that whether we describe a glass of water as half empty or half full depends on our point of view. It may be scant comfort to the man in the unemployment line, but the labor statistics also were telling us that 91.8 percent of Americans in the labor market are holding jobs. That's 84.6 million people, providing goods and services worth $1.5 trillion, still a phenomenal outpouring of production by any standards.

Moreover, the resources committed to cushioning the privations of the unemployed are greater today than at any time in the past, especially during the depression years of the 1930s which are being recalled for comparison with our current recession.

Members of Congress would not be Pollyannaish if they took the time to consider the positive aspects of our economic picture before embarking on dramatic programs aimed at treating the negative aspects. It is important to remember that overreacting to the evidence of recession makes recession worse by crippling the area of the economy which still is healthy and needs to get healthier to reduce unemployment.

President Ford has programmed a $52 billion deficit into the next federal budget. Congress has shown little inclination to make the sacrifices in federal spending which would hold the deficit even to that great size. The unemployment rate is being cited as a reason for bigger tax cuts and bigger make-work programs — and consequently a bigger deficit.

A ballooning federal deficit can have only two consequences. One of them is to drain capital away from the private sector of the economy which creates productive jobs with its capital investments. The other is a reckless expansion of the money supply which will subject the healthy part of our economy to further ravages of inflation, the most serious threat it faces.

One thing that should make any economist dismal these days is the possibility that Congress will throw all caution to the winds in borrowing and spending under the mistaken impression that government can cure this recession. In so doing it would destroy the vitality of the private sector of the economy, which is where the seeds of recovery must inevitably take root.

It was a very special night

To The Editor: This is a letter of both joy and thanks for a very special evening.

On Feb. 22, the Belleville Band Boosters sponsored a "Cabaret" at North Junior High School featuring the Belleville High School Jazz Band. It was without a doubt a great success.

The sight of several generations of people together in a nightclub - like setting who were thoroughly enjoying the refreshments, dancing or just listening to the excellent performance of the Jazz Band, was indeed a joy to behold. No generation gap was in evidence as the very young, the high school set, the college group, the 20 to the over - 39 set, got up to swing to the modern beat.

The thanks intended goes to the many businesses of the Belleville - Van Buren community who graciously allowed us the right to advertise with posters in their store windows and in restaurants. Also thanks to the high school for letting us publicize on the bulletin board in front of the school and to the newspaper for coverage. All these areas are most helpful and we greatly appreciate your interest.

We would like it reported that an evening of entertainment can be held without sad incident.

Again sincere thanks to all who helped us in our endeavor.

Prices are low

American gas consumers have it easy

The cries of anguish still are reverberating around the country from opponents of President Ford's proposal to levy an eventual tax of $3 a barrel on imported oil.

The charges are that this will drive the price of gasoline and other oil products right through the ceiling.

Proposals which have been raised in Washington to increase the gasoline tax by 10 or 20 cents a gallon also bring forth yelps of protest. The charge is that such prices are discriminatory and foist an unbearable burden upon the "little guy."

What all this shows is just how easy we Americans have had it all these years. When people used to having gas wars drive the price of regular below 25 cents a gallon suddenly have to pay twice that for a gallon of gas, it's probably unavoidable they feel put upon.

But the truth is Americans still pay much less, by more than half, than just about any country in the world for gasoline.

For instance, the price of regular in West Germany early in 1975 was $1.25 per gallon. In England it was $1.32 a gallon, up from $1.25 in December. In France it was $1.39, up from $1.31 in December.

In Japan the latest price was $1.36 per gallon, but the champion is Brazil, where a gallon now costs $2.20.

The reason is rather simple — each of these countries relies almost solely on imported oil and has for years. Great Britain will in a few years be self sufficient for the first time due to the North Sea discoveries, but right now she still depends on the Arabs.

And in each case it is a total dependency, not just a percentage as is the current case in the United States.

Had each country not slapped huge taxes on gasoline to cut its consumption a long time ago, the flow of gold to the Arabs and the large imbalance of payments would have bankrupted the country involved.

So it must sound strange to someone from Europe, Asia or South America to hear Americans complain so bitterly when gasoline prices go to 50 some cents per gallon, especially when the alternate to higher prices and using economic forces to slow consumption is gas rationing. The European countries, certainly the most liberal group of governments in the western world with all kinds of social insurance programs, long ago settled on using simple economics to slow gasoline consumption.

They recognized it isn't a matter of denying a segment of the population of a "right," but instead was a matter of keeping a stable national economy. And if you think higher gas prices work a hardship, imagine what a wrecked economy would do.

Unfortunately, American politics isn't filled with people willing to give bad news to people, to tell them things just aren't going to be as good as in the past. The road to success usually means promising the rosiest possible picture, whether it's true or not.

But the fact is, as the old saying goes, there ain't no free lunch. The lunch that looks free today can get expensive a little further down the road.

Writer looks for positive in GOP

By WEST THORP

Enterprise-Roman Lansing Bureau

One party leader at the Michigan Republican State Convention held in Grand Rapids urged a reporter to write something positive about the party's winter get-together.

He told the reporter that enough had been written about the party's misfortunes.

The leaders said the party would bounce back from defeat, with people proudly proclaiming they were affiliated with the GOP.

So, during the next two days—a Friday night and Saturday—the reporter looked for something positive to write about, some sign that the Michigan Republican Party was more than an invalid on the state's political scene.

At this point, it's important to remember that the Republicans were just about decimated in last November's election. They lost the Legislature, a majority in the State's Congressional delegation, seats on the governing boards of the state's three major universities, and they weren't able to come close to incumbent Democrats who hold the attorney general and secretary of state's position.

To put it mildly, the Michigan GOP has a real uphill fight to get back into the winning circle in next year's election.

Back to the convention! Look for something positive, the man said. First, there's the place the convention was held, an old downtown hotel — the Pantlind—which has seen its better days. Delegates, registering for their rooms, were greeted by a depressing lobby which did anything but generate optimism for the future. So, scratch one in your search for something positive.

Then there were the district caucuses where delegates from each of the state's 19 Congressional districts elected officers who were to be the political sparkplugs in their individual areas during the coming two years.

Maybe the people in the caucuses will show a new found enthusiasm which the party will use as a base for next year's efforts to win at the polls.

Scratch another item off your list in a search for something positive. The caucuses were peopled by the same persons who were at the last convention, and the convention before that. Hardly anybody mentioned next year's election because they were too busy talking about last year's.

The next day there was the formal session of the convention where a state party chairman and his officers were elected and where the Republican delegates stated their position on certain political issues.

And at this point that the state Republicans did something which had positive overtones. Actually, Lt. Gov. James Damman did it in his speech. In less than five minutes, Damman zeroed in on the party's minority status and how to change it.

Damman said that it's time to get back to the basics.

There that's the positive thing that happened at the Republican convention.

Girl scouts use incentive in cookis sale

Girl Scouts here borrowed an idea from the automotive industry when they launched their annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale recently, incentives. While the 6,600

Huron Valley Girl Scout Council cookie salesmen won't be giving rebates, a savings of 12 percent is built into the price, since the cookies will again be priced at $1 a box, the same as a year ago. Moreover, in attempting to sell 25 percent more cookies than last year, the Scouts will be offering incentives to the Junior, Cadette and Senior troops taking orders. Troops selling more than the average of 53 boxes per girl needed to make the $350,000 sales goal will earn, for 55 boxes a Girl Scout cookie sale poster; for 75 boxes, a specially-designed jacket patch; and for 100 boxes, a silver-plated cookie sale pen. The cookie patch design was created by fourth-grader Beth Ann Apley of Ann Arbor, a member of Junior Troop No. 29. The design was selected by disc jockeys Charles (Mojo)

Johnson of radio station WAAM and John Boshoven of station WYFC from more than 100 designs submitted by Girl Scouts from throughout Washtenaw.

Livingston, western Wayne, and Northern Monroe counties.

Prizes for the winner were Cookie Sale Pen and a showcase box of Girl Scout cookies, including the two new products being sold this year, Sesame Crisp crackers and English Breakfast tea.

Five traditional flavors of cookies will again be offered, including scot teas, (sugar-covered shortbread), lemon cremes, (lemon sandwich cookie with lemon filling), mints (chocolate covered mint cookie), savannahs, (peanut butter cookie with peanut flavored filling), and oxford cremes (chocolate and vanilla sandwich cookies with vanilla filling). All are wrapped for freezing. Both scot teas and mint cookies are Kosher with the Circle-U designation.

Hints can eliminate lengthy kitchen time

Western Wayne County residents looking for a way to beat the idea of being in the kitchen constantly to help trim corners will find these few tips one way of side stepping the drudgery.

Prepare and freeze, in the sectional trays, if you wish, complete dinners, especially after holidays or Sundays, or when you deliberately cook double for future use.

Keep a perpetual marketing list that can be added to the regular marketing list to cut down trips to the store. Often when you go for a single item you end by purchasing several more.

If there's a real saving on buying in quantity or by the case, go in on it with a neighbor, friend or relative.

Go back to foods which require little cooking like chicken livers, ground beef or cheese since there's little cooking loss or shrinkage in these foods. You also can save on fuel.

Ex-resident, Mrs. Savage, dies of illness

Relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deering, received word of the death of a former Belleville resident, Mrs. John (Freda) Savage, of Crosby, Minn. on Feb. 17.

To show expansion

Planning firm to hold open house program

The engineering and planning firm responsible for programs and projects in several Western Wayne County communities is holding a facilities expansion open house on Saturday at 25185 Goddard Road in Taylor. Wade, Trim & Associates — city engineers for Belleville, engineers and planners for Canton and Sumpter Townships and urban renewal consultants for Romulus — is planning the affair to allow hundreds of clients and friends from throughout Michigan to view a 10,000-square-foot, 2-story west wing addition to its headquarters building. The addition and remodeling carry out the open theme of the original building design, creating a pleasant working environment. Sound balance has been achieved in the new second floor. Design Engineering Center and the remodeled Planning Studio through a blend of modular office landscaping, carpeting, draperies and acoustical components.

An arched canopy ceiling hovers over the Planning Studio, concealing newly-added air conditioning and lighting.

Construction Engineering and Survey Departments have expanded into their new quarters on the first floor of the addition with three times their previous space.

Residents earn honors for college activities

Ten Western Wayne County residents distinguished themselves at various colleges recently by earning awards for extra-curricular activities, places on respective deans' lists or scholarships and grants.

Among those named to the academic honors list at Central Michigan University for the past fall semester were Belleville residents Carolyn Dillingham of 44065 Harmony Lane, Cathy Ferguson of 44111 Harmony Lane, Claudia Alimpich of 44080 Michigan Ave. and Sharon L. Patke of 684 Greylock; and Romulus residents Carol McGinnis of 8922 Whitehorn and Sheila Oakley of 9875 Tobine Road. Earning a spot on the dean's list at Adrian College for the past fall semester was Romulus resident Sandy Campbell of 26076 King.

Northern Michigan University included on its fall semester dean's list Belleville resident Michael Hogan of 6111 Rawsonville Road. Winner of the Elsie Cook Scholarship for Environmental Education at the University of Michigan was George Wesley Moore of 20749 Martinsville Road in Belleville. Announcement of the $250 award was made at the school's recent program in environmental education and outdoor recreation.

Belleville resident Ron Robbins was a member of the Carson-Newman College Debate Team of Jefferson City, Tenn. when the team recently won a number of awards at the Tennessee State Debate Tournament held at Vanderbilt University. Robbins was awarded third place honors.

Church Women United observes prayer day

Joining millions of people in a chain of prayer spanning six continents, Church Women United at Belleville United Presbyterian Church will celebrate World Day of Prayer at 1:30 p.m. Friday.

This 89th celebration will be observed in a thousand languages and dialects by Protestant, Orthodox and Catholic Christians in 169 lands, according to sponsors.

The International Committee for the World Day of Prayer has designated Church Women United as the official sponsor of the celebration in the United States.

City formulates plan for improving parks

Although winter has put a stop to most work on Romulus' recreation areas, the city is continuing to lay groundwork for improving parks.

The city is ready to consider the purchase of a 12-acre parcel of land near the Romulus Estates Subdivision for a park, and wants to begin dickering with the Romulus Community School District over the use of part of a 19-acre parcel near the Meadows Subdivision for a community recreation area.

"It's part of the promise to bring recreational opportunities to every area of Romulus," Mayor Terry L.

Trout said. "The city has built up a recreation area on Henry Ruff Road near Beverly Road and is continuing work on Elmer Johnson Park.

"But that doesn't mean the city should sit back and be satisfied."

The Romulus City Council was expected to ratify a resolution calling for negotiations on the purchase of the 12-acre site on Cogswell Road near the Romulus Estates Subdivision, and with council action, the city will apply for state and federal funds for the development of the land.

Trout said he anticipates council action on developing the park behind the Merriman Elementary School on Merriman Road at the first meeting of March and the completion of the park at Henry Ruff and Beverly roads.

"The next key item will be something near the Meadows Subdivision," Trout added. "That is one of the last major developed areas of town without an open play area and should receive one soon."

For seniors, shutins

Mobile library makes rounds

The Readabout, a new mobile library servicing senior citizens, shutins and students in Romulus, operates each Tuesday and Friday traveling four routes through the city to bring books to the people. Each route covered by the Readabout will be traveled once every other week.

Designed to serve residents who have difficulty in getting to the main library, the Readabout stocks books that are requested by citizens and teachers. Those who wish to have a particular set of books are asked to call librarian Diane Hazen at 941-0775.

GIRL SCOUT TEA?—Displaying a pot of the new Girl Scout Tea being offered for the first time in conjunction with the annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale for the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council are area sales chairman (from left) Mr. William Wallace of Flat Rock, Mrs. Peter Hogberg of Flat Rock and Mrs. Philip Renke of Romulus. Also working on the project, but not shown, is Ursula Lange of Belleville. The sale began Feb. 21 and will run to March 9. Sales goals are 25 percent more than a year ago.

Board seeks citizens' help

Belleville residents are being asked to consider serving on the city's Bicentennial Committee.

City coordinator for the committee, Belleville Councilman Justin Emerson, said the steering committee for the Bicentennial celebration scheduled for 1976 to commemorate the United States' 200th anniversary of independence, is seeking citizen participation.

"We're looking for other persons to help with plans for the birthday celebration to insure that Belleville's observance of American independence in 1976 is memorable," Emerson said. "Any interested residents are asked to participate."

The steering committee met Monday night to outline plans for devising a celebration. Emerson said the initial proposal would be to expand the annual July 4 water show in the city.

Serving on the committee at this time are Mr. and Mrs. Don Carlson, James Richendollar, Judy Fruit, Avis White, Russell Price and Sam LoPresto.

"Future meetings of the Bicentennial Committee will be announced in the Belleville Enterprise so persons can make plans to attend," Emerson said.

Blood donors sought

A Red Cross Bloodmobile will be stationed at St. Aloysius Church, 11280 Ozga Road in Romulus, from 2-8 p.m. March 19.

Western Wayne County residents are urged to donate blood at that time.

Council files resolution opposing stadium costs

The Romulus City Council has gone on record as opposing any plan to give state funds to help defray the costs of stadiums in other communities.

The council voted to send a resolution to a public hearing on a proposal to revise the Michigan law governing horseracing to prohibit the use of funds from the state by cities as payment of rent to stadium authorities.

At issue is a stipulation in the horseracing law allowing communities state grants of up to two percent of the total bonded indebtedness for stadiums as payments.

Under the stipulation, the City of Pontiac has received $1.6 million state funds to help pay the cost of the $40 million Pontiac stadium being built for the Detroit Lions football team.

"I've fought this issue for some time," said Romulus City Councilman James Stewart. "It isn't right for Romulus citizens to have some of their state taxes being spent on the stadium for a football team in Pontiac, and I think the city should protest it."

A hearing on the matter has been scheduled in Pontiac by State Sen. William Faust (D-13th District), who heads the Senate State Affairs Committee.

According to a spokesman from Faust's office, the hearing will test public opinion on the proposal, made by State Sen. John Hertel of Detroit.

"The feeling of some senators is that this money could be sent to Pontiac each year for the term of the bonds, meaning the city would receive $24 million in state funds to help retire the bonds on a stadium being built for a privately-owned football team," said another senate spokesman.

Faust would not offer his opinion on the Hertel proposal, stating it would not be proper for him to form an opinion on the matter until it has cleared the public hearing stage.

The State Affairs Committee will have to decide whether to report the Hertel proposal out from committee so the full Senate can act on it.

At the Romulus City Council meeting, Stewart commended Faust for informing the City Council of the impending public hearing in Pontiac in time for the council to act on a resolution.

Contracts up on demolitions

Contracts will be awarded soon for the demolition of 18 buildings in Romulus, deemed unsafe by the City Council.

The buildings, scattered throughout the city, will be razed as a continuation of a program begun last summer to demolish unsafe or hazardous structures in Romulus. The city destroyed 27 such buildings then.

The decision to demolish the 18 buildings was made after a council review of them and the danger they pose to nearby residents.

Rising truck prices delay order for city

Skyrocketing prices in the truck industry and the lengthening delivery time for special units have forced Romulus to up the price it would pay for a dump truck. The Romulus City Council has approved raising the price the city will pay for a dump truck, which Mayor Terry L. Troutt said is needed, from $6,600 originally bid by Crova and Son Sales and Service in Romulus to $8,500.

The change was needed, according to Troutt, because General Motors Corp. could not deliver a dump truck in 1974, when the city originally ordered it, and 1975 models were increased in price. But despite the $1,900 increase in cost, the $8,500 price wasn't as bad as things could get, if the truck requests were rebid, Troutt said. Crova and Son informed the city that new prices on 1975 model dump trucks range up to at least $9,400. "What it amounts to is the city needs the truck, and the price is better today than it will be later if we take new bids," Troutt added. "I'd ask the council to approve it." The council voted unanimously on a motion by Councilman James Stewart with support from Councilman Joan A. Lee to make the purchase.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

Member By Invitation National Selected Morticians

HAROLD REDISKE, HAROLD REDISKE, JR.—DIRECTORS

Do you remember the wide publicity given the letter President Truman wrote in anger to the music critic who criticized his daughter's voice? As time went on, we are sure Truman in his inner thoughts, regretted the letter was mailed...The incident illustrates a point...There is a right way and a wrong way, a right time and a wrong time to write a letter...At no time, should a letter be written and mailed in anger, annoyance or abuse (even to politicians).

In personal relationships, nasty letters can and do break up families; ruin friendships...Write down your resentment if you must; get it off your chest. But DON'T mail it. DON'T write and mail a letter written with rage or wrath. Such letters gain you nothing.

Writing a letter can and should be a thrilling experience. A nice, friendly letter written by pen, pencil or typewriter, on any kind of paper, to family and friends ALWAYS brings a thrill to the person you write to. And, invariably, when you write a nice, friendly letter, you get a nice letter back. That's a thrill too. Isn't it? Why not thrill some one today?...

Willow Run study slated for fall completion

A study currently underway to determine the future of Willow Run Airport in the state's transportation system is slated for completion by early fall, according to State Sen. William Faust (D-Westland).

The study is being conducted by the Stanford Research Institute of Menlo Park, Calif. and will produce recommendations on the future role of Willow Run in the state airport system.

The airport, headquartered in Ypsilanti has facilities both in that community and Van Buren Township.

The study also will recommend a new owner-operator for the airport. The University of Michigan has owned Willow Run Airport since it became government surplus after World War II. University officials have indicated they wish to dispose of the property.

Planners from the Department of State Highways and Transportation will be assisting the institute staff so the state can keep abreast of what's happening throughout the course of the study," Faust said. "A 20-member advisory task force, made up of representatives of local units of governments and public agencies also will take part in the study to provide local input."

Among the members of the advisory task force are Van Buren Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer and Belleville Mayor Ellis Amerman.

The task force will meet monthly under the auspices of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) to review and comment on the findings of all phases of the study. The task force also will offer advice on technical procedures in the conduct of the study.

"We want every local government and concerned agency to have the opportunity to contribute to this study," Faust added. "The future of Willow Run Airport concerns all these people and they have the right to know how this study is progressing."

Faust's 15th Senatorial District includes the communities of Ypsilanti and Van Buren Townships.

The Stanford consultants are expected to weigh previously-discussed options for the future role and operation of Willow Run including formation of an airport authority and joint operation by area municipalities, as well as developing new concepts.

Willow Run Airport was built early in World War II for the production of B-17 bombers. After the war it served as a terminal for a number of passenger airlines until 1965 when most operations were shifted to nearby Detroit Metropolitan Airport in Romulus.

Willow Run still is used for air shipment of freight and general aviation operations.

THE 50s GANG—Among the 70 fifth and sixth grade students who attended Gordonier Elementary School's recent "Oldies But Goodies" dance were students who labeled themselves "The 50s gang."

Included in their ranks were Tina Renton, Joyce Hornyak, Judy Lewis, Kathy Wright, Teri Frost, Tommy Boone, Marcus Montgomery, David Rhode and Randy Eaton.

County board names 2 to fill vacancies

Two Romulus men have been appointed to posts by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

They are Daniel Lambert, who works for the city, and Melvin Morgan, a local developer.

Lambert, Romulus' Director of the Department of Responsive Government, has been appointed to the Metropolitan Airport Zoning Board of Appeals.

Morgan, a volunteer worker in Romulus who headed the "Project: Let's Light the Way" drive in the city, was appointed to the Wayne County Building Authority.

Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt said the appointments will be of benefit to the community by giving Romulus some voice in the decisions affecting the community made by the county.

"Lambert's appointment to the zoning board gives Romulus a voice in construction going on in the airport," Troutt said. "It's the first time any Romulus resident has been appointed to a board which deals with the airport."

Of Morgan's position, he added: "It offers the city an inside in future county construction plans."

"There's talk of an out-county circuit court which could be built on land owned by Wayne County in Romulus.

"If the court is built on that land, or other county property in the city, then Romulus will have one person with a voice on its construction."

Troutt said the appointments were made after Wayne County Commissioner Edgar Harris (D-26th District) nominated the two Romulus men for the posts.

Harris represents Romulus along with Taylor on the county board.

Belleville is district cage champion

DROUGHT IS ENDED — Hoisted atop the shoulders of Tiger fans, Belleville High cage coach Tom Niemi reaches for the Class A District championship trophy, an act that ended a state basketball tour-namment title drought that has existed since 1958. Belleville earned the district title by beating Wayne Memorial 74-54 Saturday night at Ypsilanti High School.

The last time Belleville High won a district basketball championship Dwight D. Eisenhower was President of the United States.

And the Arabs had the oil faucets open.

That was in 1958.

That seems like a long, long time ago.

So, Belleville cagers and Coach Tom Niemi put a stop to the drought, beating a revengeful Wayne Memorial team 74-54 Saturday night to Tigers end drought by whipping Wayne capture the Class A district championship at Ypsilanti. The championship was Belleville's ticket to the regional playoffs which began last night at Ypsilanti. The Tigers drew Detroit Northwestern in the first round (Tuesday) and if they survive then the local cagers will advance to the title game.

That game will be played Friday at 7:30 p.m. against the winner of tonight's Dearborn Fordson and Detroit Chadsey matchup.

Excited over his team's victory and pleased with the district championship, Niemi said, "that I certainly feel the players and the community of Belleville deserved this championship."

It was a hard-earned victory. Wayne had lost to the Tigers twice during the regular season and Coach Bill Hawley's Zebras were out to avenge those defeats.

The outcome of the game wasn't decided until the final 3½ minutes of the game when Walt Easley, Mel Abraham and Ernie Thornsbury sank baskets in rapid succession to break open a 56-50 ball game.

UP TO that point Belleville held slim leads all the way with Wayne trying to catch up.

Belleville shot its way to an 18-11 first period advantage as Abraham connected for eight of his game high 28 points in that quarter. The Tigers managed to hold off the Wayneites the next eight minutes despite Pat Sheridan and John Nibert's heroics.

Sheridan and Nibert pulled the Zebras within three points (22-19) in the second period and that's the closest they got. Baskets by Thornsbury, Walt and Dennis Easley gave the Tigers some breathing room.

HOWEVER, Wayne refused to quit. Trailing 32-25 at the half, they rallied once again behind Sheridan who sacked six of his 15 points early in the third period to cut a 34-24 Tiger edge to 34-31.

Belleville then ripped off four unanswered baskets - three by Abraham and one by Dennis to widen the bulge to 46-35 with 2:07 left in the third period.

Wayne came back to slice the score to 49-43 for the three-periods, setting up a dramatic finish.

Easley, that's Walt, got the first basket of the fourth period, then Tim Couch and Nibert sank a pair of free throws and a field goal to bring Wayne within four points, 51-47. Dennis Easley then hit on a layup, but Belleville was slapped with a technical foul and Sheridan

Stoelton, Liebler win league swim titles

Though Dearborn, the defending Class A state swim champ, managed to retain its Great Lakes 8 Conference title, there were signs that the Pioneer monopoly was breaking up as Edsel Ford came within 30 points of the reigning champ and Belleville took two gold medals.

Belleville's sensational sophomore, Mark Stoelton, and senior diver Arlo Liebler captured top honors at the league meet held Saturday at Plymouth Salem High.

It was the first time in the three year history of the conference that a Belleville High swimmer or diver won a gold medal.

"I WOULD have to say that this was our best meet since I have been here," noted Belleville coach Sam Vicchy. "It was our best all-around performance and this was the first time we have ever won any events."

Vicchy pointed out that of the 30 swimmers he entered in the meet, 29 turned in their best times of the season. "And how do you knock that?" Vicchy rhetorically asked.

Stoelton won the 50-yard freestyle and in doing so erased the oldest Belleville record on the board. His 22.8 eclipsed the record set by Bob Renton in 1967 of 22.9. Liebler amassed 415 points from his efforts on the boards to annex the Suburban 8 Conference crown to his two-time Western Wayne Invitational titles.

LIEBLER and teammate Ted Ziolkowski, a junior, will be shooting for state Class A recognition this week. The two Belleville divers however, had to pass the regional qualifying rounds held at Bloomfield Hills Lahser last night.

Vicchy also will take to the state meet Dave Barber who qualified in the 200-yard freestyle and a medley relay team made up of Dennis Harkness, Paul Wanshon, Farley Parsons and Stoelton. They hold the school record at 1:45.3.

Mark also qualified for the state in the 50-yard freestyle and a Tiger freestyle relay team composed of the following swimmers - Steve Lahmen, Jeff Fogarty, Harold Gable, Dave Barber or Stoelton is also eligible to compete for state accolades.

Belleville, a second place finisher to Plymouth Salem in the Suburban 8 Conference, had the "lion's share" of candidates when it came to selecting the coveted all-conference team.

Three of the 10 players named by the coaches were from Belleville.

THE EASLEY brothers - Walt and Dennis - along with Mel Abraham - Belleville's candidates - join the star-studded lineup which also includes Eric Agardy (Plymouth Salem), Steve Deller (Trenton), Jim VanderHull (Dearborn), Don Kegley (Livonia Bentley), Phil Beyer (Edsel Ford), Jim Ellinghausen (Plymouth Salem) and Steve Betz (Edsel Ford).

Salem retained the conference championship, but one of its two defeats on the season was handed to the Rocks by Coach Tom Niemi's Tigers.

Belleville's 18-4 won-lost record is the best in the school's history. The previous record was 13-4 posted by the 1958-59 team.

Last season for Cross

By TOM MOORADIAN

Jon Cross is among the greatest distance runners this area has ever produced.

The ex-Belleville High, two-time All-Area cross-country and track star presently holds the University of Michigan record for the six-mile run.

That record was set by Jon at 28:55 as a freshman and improved by him as a sophomore (1974) at 28:23.

And, some thought after he suffered a leg injury in his senior year at Belleville, that he "would never make it as a collegiate runner."

Cross proved pessimists wrong.

BUT, THE LONG RUN is soon to come to a detour for the 21-year-old athlete.

"I would have liked to tried out to see if I could make the grade as an Olympic distance runner," said Cross, "but it's impossible now."

"I just can't blow my education and gamble on something that a cold or an illness can stop."

What Cross is shooting for now is a degree from the U-M School of Denistry. He was one of the elite 150 young men and women - out of a total of 3,000 candidates - who have been admitted to the School of Denistry.

"It's sort of an either or situation," relates Cross who helped the Wolverines win the Big 10 Conference cross country title last year. "There's too much studying to do, so I will have to sacrifice my running."

Cross intends to compete this spring in track, but come fall his only running will be "to keep in shape and back-and-forth to dental classes."

Ouch, how that must hurt coaches Jack Harvey and Ron Warhurst.

And here's another sort of "ouch" in the form of a letter from a Cherry Hill basketball fan.

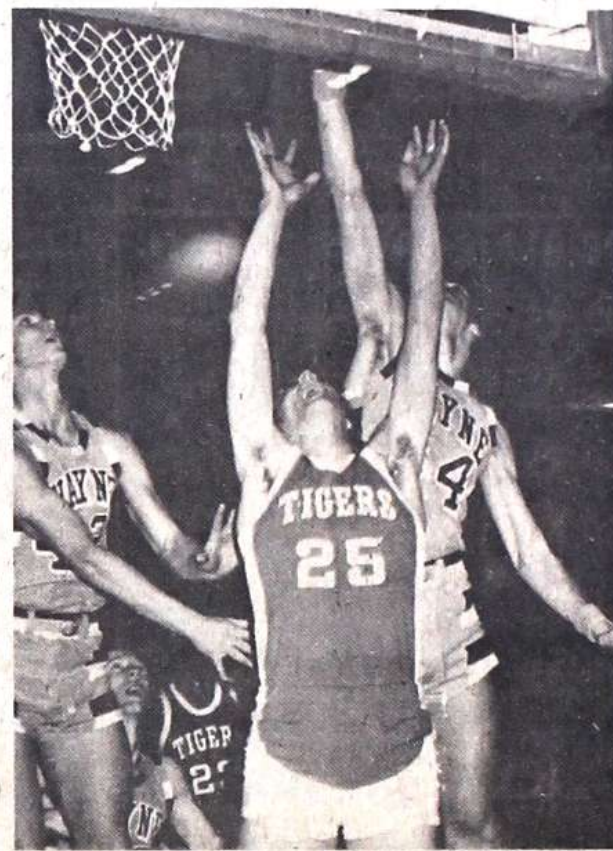

Dear Tom Mooradian,
I wasn't going to write to you about this, until I read your column Monday, for fear I would be accused of "sour grapes." But now that you have opened "Pandora's Box," I feel I should speak out.

I would have liked to when you first wrote something a week or two ago about "Doc Kosteva" being missed on the basketball floors around here. I personally don't know by whom.

His display last Friday night at the Cherry Hill vs. Chadsey basketball game was typical of every game I have ever seen him officiate. I don't know if he was proud of having ruined what otherwise would have undoubtedly been a fine game between two fine teams. But he sure didn't seem disappointed in his exhibition.

Just look at his and his partner's record during Friday nights' game. Fifty some personal fouls, 20 of which would have been questionable during the regular season; four technical fouls which were laughable only because of their obvious inconsistency, especially the one called against the Chadsey player for shooting the ball after the whistle when he obviously couldn't hear it because of the crowd noise; six lane violations during free throws; (I haven't seen that many during the whole season) and 20 some whistled turnovers during the first half alone, which is about what is called in a whole game in the regular season.

HANDS UP — Dueling for a rebound during the district basketball championship at Ypsilanti are Belleville's Ernie Thornsbury (25) and Wayne's John Nibert (at right). But it was Wayne's Tim Crews (at left) who was the action stopper as he was defected shoving to get into position. Wayne's bid to avenge two previous losses to the Tigers didn't materialize as Belleville raced to a 74-54 victory and the district championship. Coach Tom Niemi's cagers made their first appearance in regional competition in recent years last night, clashing with a strong Detroit Northwestern at Ypsilanti High.

To top it all off, the inconsistency in personal fouls was something to behold. Just what were these two (especially Kosteva) trying to prove? It seemed to me they were trying to show they knew more about the game than any one present, and their presence as officials was more important than the game or its outcome.

I don't mean to say that the officiating caused Cherry Hill to lose the game because it didn't. We lost in spite of it. As I saw it we lost the game at the free throw line and in our shooting percentage from the field.

However the officiating was so bad an exhibition that one of the tournament directors felt compelled to apologize to both coaches for it.

But like I said before this is typical of every game I have ever seen "Doc" Kosteva involved in except maybe one that I can remember. My personal feeling toward Mr. Kosteva as an official is "Long time no see, and until last Friday we were all the better for it. Let's all hope it's even longer next time."

AREA COACHES shouldn't feel too sad about the premature end of this season, just look what happened to Lofton Greene's Panthers at River Rouge.

Ranked the No. 1 Class B team in the state most of the season, Rouge lost to Ecorse, a team they had beaten convincingly twice in Suburban Athletic Conference.

There was a lot of tension generated in the last three minutes of the game between Wayne Memorial and Belleville at Ypsilanti and most of the flak was between Wayne Coach Bill Hawley and Kalamazoo ref Ron Tessons.

What happened coach?

"I got a technical foul for delaying the game because I didn't send in a player to replace Pat Sheridan who, according to the ref, had sustained his fifth personal foul. I tried to question the official but he refused to talk to me. Consequently, I was slapped with a technical.

"I felt that the foul was called on John Nibert who had raised his hand and this is why I wanted to question the official.

"I don't think I was out of order because, hey, Sheridan wasn't even near the play. I just couldn't understand what happened," Bill Hawley said.

STRANGE, BUT A LOT of folks, including myself couldn't see that call. But, as experience shows, you can't argue with an ump, ref or sports official without being penalized.

What can one do but raise his hands and surrender to fate?

It was an unusually warm fall afternoon on that Friday, Oct. 19, 1973.

On the gridiron Wayne Memorial was playing the No. 1 ranked team in the state, Fordson, and doing a pretty good job in checking the Tractors.

Fordson managed to break open the game in the last five minutes and won its first Great Lakes 8 Conference confrontation with Coach Floyd Carter's Zebras, 30-17.

But, before the game ended, a brawl erupted on the sidelines between Wayne Memorial and Fordson fans. That marred what was an excellent afternoon of football.

LATER THAT YEAR when Fordson paid its first visit to Wayne Memorial for their inaugural conference basketball game, bygones weren't left to be bygones and another laceration occurred.

The students felt these brawls had to be stopped and, upon the initiative of the student bodies at the two high schools, something positive was done.

They formed cadres to patrol and police athletic events involving the two high schools and the brawls have disappeared.

"It was the first positive step to resolve the problem," said George Bell, principal of Memorial High School. "And we're very pleased that the solution emulated from the students themselves."

BELL RELATED THAT the two high schools exchanged 12-person delegations who were invited to have supper and discuss the problem.

"On one occasion our two groups met for over three hours and exchanged ideas. They eventually settled for the cadre proposal," said Bell.

Each cadre was made up of one Wayne and one Fordson student along with a school administrator. They would mingle with the fans and stop any potentially explosive situation.

Apparently the cadres have been successful, not a single incident has occurred during games this season.

USUALLY BRAWLS are attributed to school dropouts or recent graduates with unsavory reputations who frequent such gatherings, "looking for trouble and a fight."

School administrators have had more than their share of headaches trying to contain these characters.

When such brawls do break out, it is usually the innocent bystander who gets hurt or the bottle over his head.

It is encouraging, indeed, to know that the students themselves realize that there was a problem and have taken a positive step to solve it.

And other schools with similar problems could learn from the Wayne-Fordson example.

A SMASH HIT — Belleville High girls' volleyball team captured the Trenton Invitational championship recently by beating the hosts in the finals in three sets. Members of the Tiger team include (seated first row, from left) Debbie Thompson, Deb Paponetti, Sharon Crane, T.J. Nemering and

South dunks North

Taking six out of 11 first place finishes, the South Tigers swam to a total of 248 points to take home the first place trophy in the North-South Junior High Invitational Swim Meet.

Winning two individual events and swimming on the first place 200 yard medley relay was Howard Renton. The South freshman swam a personal best of 1:03.8 to claim the 100 yard individual medley and, then came back to go 54.6 in winning the 100 yard freestyle.

RUSS BEARANCE dropped nearly 4.5 seconds off his best time to win the 200 yard freestyle in 1:59.5, then a full two seconds to win the 100 yard backstroke in 1:03.4.

The remaining first place finish went to Phil Berger in the 50 yard butterfly at 27.2. Finishing behind South were Allen Park (221 points), Haston (172), North (167), Huff (134), Davidson (77) and Stevenson (38).

THE 400 yard freestyle relay of Joe Thomas, Scott Hennells, Tim Whittico and Mike Stoelton took down North's only first place finish of the day with a winning time of 3:51.22.

Earlier Thomas had placed third in the 200 yard freestyle at 2:04.9 and third in the 100 yard breaststroke at 1:12.2.

Hennells nailed down the number three spot in the 100 yard freestyle, splitting 57.1, with Whittico taking third in the 100 yard backstroke at 1:08.7.

Stoelton, a seventh grader, showed promise in placing fourth in the 50 yard butterfly at 29.4 and sixth in the 50 yard freestyle at 26.2.

The North duo of Dru Strobel and Dana Thorp went 2-3 in diving with South's Kevin McKelvey taking fifth place.

"North gave us some real help in taking points away from Allen Park," said South coach John Stosick. "A.P. had beaten us earlier in the season so the kids were really up for them."

"We're sending some real strong freshmen up to the high school next year. With most of our underclassmen returning for the 1975-76 season, we plan on being the team to beat next year."

Many of the North and South swimmers are members of Belleville's AAU Tiger Swim Club. Most hitting qualifying times in the last weeks of the season, they will be competing in the AAU state meet held March 21, 22 and 23 at Western Michigan University, Stosick added.

This will be one of the few times that North and South swimmers will be able to swim together on one team.

Belleville wins tourney

Belleville High's girls volleyball team won its second Suburban 8 Conference game at the expense of Allen Park last week.

Coach Norma Vinson's Tigers stopped the Jaguars in the opening set 15-6, then overpowered their rivals 15-4 to pad their record to 2-3 on the league season.

The junior varsity also won 15-10 and 15-3. EARLIER, Belleville captured the eight-team Trenton Invitational by going three sets to beat the hosts in the finals. The Tigers won the opener 15-8, then lost their poise on a 15-9 set.

In the decisive match Belleville came on top of a 15-9 count.

Sandusky and Slocum advance to state finals

And then there were two...Belleville High's Randy Slocum and Romulus' Lamar Sandusky.

Slocum and Sandusky survived the grueling Class A regional wrestling eliminations Saturday at Trenton High School to advance to the state tournament.

CLOSE CALL — Belleville's Kevin Edwards applies the brakes to avoid a collision with Wayne Memorial center John Nibert (34) who has an easy under the basket two-pointer here. However, Edwards and the Tigers captured the Class A district basketball championship at Ypsilanti Saturday night by erasing the Zebras 74-54. It was the third time this season that Belleville had beaten its area rival.

It was a perfect year for North '5'

It's been a perfect year for Belleville North Eighth Grade's team.

The Vikings strung together 13 consecutive victories to post the school's first undefeated basketball season.

RAC board members to meet

There won't be any changes in the Romulus Athletic Club's little league football coaching lineup this season as the staff, headed by varsity coach Pete Molnar will be back to serve again.

Along with Molnar are assistant coach Ed Wanack, George Sedlacek (junior varsity) and Bill Hess (freshmen).

The RAC will hold its board meeting 7 p.m. on Monday at the Romulus Library Meeting Room.

Other announcements in the RAC included a list of officers: Cheryl Brown (cheerleader director), Ken Howington (committee advisor), Judy Sullivan (social committee), Betty Brwer (homecoming committee), Bob Knight (candy committee), Clarence Mahon (trophy committee), Jim Sullivan (year book) and Sylvia Gimmell (membership committee).

Other assignments include: trailer concessions Dennis Horyyak; public relations, David Brown; photography, Diane Summerfield; operational manual, Lawrence Rautley; and equipment manager Tony Montes.

North eighth grade, playing the required 6-minute quarters and playing its starters less than three quarters each, averaged 61.4 points a game with its opponents averaging only 29.7.

North was only seriously challenged in one game this year and that was the second game of the season as it defeated a John Hill squad 57 to 50.

LEADING North to its undefeated season were two strong wing men, Kelvin Patterson and Herb Burrus. Patterson scored 310 points and averaged 25.8 points a game while shooting at a 60.1 percent rate. He also was a strong rebounder.

Burrus scored 248 points this season for a 19.1 game point average and was also a strong rebounder and the leader in assists this season. He shot 57.8 percent from the floor.

Tom Montgomery played post this season and with his 6'8" height intimidated many opponents this year into making poor shots. Playing the other post position and doing a good job rebounding was Steve Gray.

Other members of the undefeated Vikings were Larry Cicotte, Tim Ellsworth, Gary Forts, Jeff Harper, Mike Herndon, Jim Lewis, Clarence Massey, Kyle Owen, Joe Poole and Bill Ward.

Viking victories and scores:

North 45 - Haston 19; North 57 - John Hill 50; North 53 - South 14; North 52 - Riverside 34; North 79 - Radcliff 25; North 64 - Vogel 27; North 71 - Best 29; North 62 - Burger 27; North 58 - Romulus 30; North 77 - Cambridge 31; North 53 - South 29; North 60 - Taylor Hoover 32; North 65 - Romulus 40.

No. 1 Class A team in the state, is favored to unseat Detroit Catholic Central as the next state champ.

SANDUSKY finished third in the 108-pound class, defeating a stubborn Ken Krass of Walled Lake Western, 4-1, to advance to the state finals.

"Lamar has a better than average chance to go all the way," said Romulus High Coach Vern Logan. "But, that weight class is exceptionally tough, so he's going to have to be ready."

Slocum finished fourth in the 170 pound class after losing in the consolation round to Dearborn Heights Annapolis' Don Hull on a 4-0 decision.

THE TOP four wrestlers in each of the 12 weight classes earned the right to compete in the state tournament.

Wayne, which garnered 74 points, captured the regional title at Trenton. Romulus finished with 17 points, giving the Eagles a two-way tie with Dearborn for 17th place.

Belleville carded 5½ points and finished 19th.

LAMAR SANDUSKY

Tigers top in district

WITH 3:36 left, Bell Crews kept the Zebras in the game with two free throws. Then, Wayne began to fall apart. Belleville leading by six (56-50) got a basket by Abraham and two free throws by Walt Easley and with 2:49, the Tigers were enjoying a 60-50 lead.

A controversial call halted the game for a couple of minutes while Hawley argued a foul slapped on one of his players. The refs eventually tagged Sheridan with the foul, though Nibert appeared to be the culprit.

The officials refused to give in and Sheridan left the game with his fifth personal.

WITH 2:19 on the clock, Thornsbury riddled off a free throw and two consecutive baskets and the inevitable happened. Belleville breezed to its 18th win in 22 games and their first district title since 1958.

Abraham pumped in 13 field goals and two free throws for a game high 28 points. Dennis Easley picked up 19 points while Thornsbury and Walt Easley chipped in 11 and 10, respectively.

Wayne's leaders - Sheridan and Nibert each had 15 points.

Dennis Easley also led the attack on the rebounds as he snared 14.

What did Niemi have to say about the Northwestern game?

"They upset Cass which was ranked No. 1. I feel that Northwestern will be the toughest opponent we will play all season."

Coalition picks its chairperson

The director of a Western Wayne County crisis help center was elected to serve as chairperson of the Wayne County Community Services Coalition at its annual meeting held recently.

Leonard Melnick, the director of the Romulus Help and Job Placement Center, was elected to the post and will serve for a term of one year.

Melnick has been director of the Help Center, a counseling and substance abuse treatment, program serving the Romulus area, since August 1973. The center provides free outpatient treatment to area residents.

The Wayne County Community Services Coalition is a group of service-oriented agencies and interested individuals from the community. It meets to discuss and take action on community need and interests of agencies and clients.

At the recent meeting, Melnick appointed four ad hoc committees in the areas of training, implementation of the new state alcoholism treatment bill, future funding and third party payments.

The coalition was formed three years ago by Western Wayne County treatment centers in an effort to consolidate resources and regularize funding.

Firm appoints new manager

Belleville resident Larry B. Jackson has been named general manager of Bell & Howell Wilding Division's Audio Visual Center and Ice Hockey Arenas in Romulus.

The appointment was announced by W.W. Kraft, Wilding president, who said the move is part of the expansion of the firm's total audio-visual operation.

Jackson joined Wilding in 1973 to become video center controller. His background covers a 10-year span in audio-visual, video and motion picture production.

Tree proposal goes to board

The Van Buren Township Recreation Commission has presented the township Board of Trustees with a tree ordinance intended to serve as a legal tool to monitor and regulate removal of trees in the community.

Commission secretary Eunice Kaue said that while the ordinance does provide for removal of trees, the commission did indicate a need to preserve specific trees that are native to Van Buren Township regardless of caliber or size.

Commission members urged interested citizens to attend the March 11 meeting of the township board. The ordinance, drawn up by commission member Ken Askew, is on the agenda for that session.

City councilmen hope for hike in stock costs

The Belleville City Council is hoping stock prices go up on an insurance company. The city is a stockholder in the Citizens Insurance Co. of America, the formal name of the merger of the Citizens Mutual Co. into a new firm.

While the city held insurance prior to the merger, it accumulated stock as part of a mutual insurance group, and now finds that stock worth approximately $25 per share.

Under the merger agreement involving Citizens Mutual, Citizens Insurance Co. of America intends to redeem the 50 percent of the stock sold by Citizens Mutual within five years, and the remaining stock in the company within the three succeeding years.

And during that time, the stockholders will collect a seven percent per year dividend payment.

Belleville City Attorney B. Ward Smith has advised the city to hold on to the stock in the new company and to place the dividends in the city's general fund.

Smith recommended the city await word from the board of directors of the new company on when the stocks will be redeemed, and then sell the stocks back to the company.

Proceeds from the sale of the stock will be sent into the general fund.

Belleville has 37 shares of the stock—a value of approximately $9,200.

Citizens Mutual Insurance Company was Belleville's liability insurance carrier prior to the merger. The new company will continue to cover the city for liability until insurance bids are up again.

NEW LOW PRICES ON THESE NEW CHEVROLET MODELS.

LOWER PRICE ON THE NEW MONZA "S" HATCHBACK COUPE*

Look at the car. It looks much the same. Yet look at the sticker and you'll find we've trimmed over $300 off the Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Price of our sporty little Monza 2+2, Motor Trend's "Car of the Year", to help put our new Monza "S" Hatchback Coupe within reach of more people. We did it by taking off some equipment items, and giving you the option of ordering them separately. Your dealer can give you the details.

*Based on comparison of Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Prices between the Monza 2+2 and the Monza "S". Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Price of the new Monza "S" is $3648.

LOWER PRICE ON THE NEW NOVA "S" COUPE*

Now Nova is even more affordable. What we did was switch tires on this new "S" model, putting on a set of tough bias belted in place of the standard radials and passing the sizeable savings along to you. Of course if you want radials, you can order them. If you don't, enjoy your savings—and your Nova. It's a solid car, with a well-established reputation. Why pay $599 more for a fancy newcomer that's about the same size, when Nova (even without radials) offers so much—for so much less?

*Based on comparison of Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Prices between Nova Coupe and the new Nova "S" Coupe. Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Price of the new Nova "S" is $3098.60.

Now, $599 less than the newest compact from Chevy's nearest sales competitor. Based on comparison of Manufacturers' Suggested Retail Prices.

CHEVELLE MALIBU 6 SEDAN $555 LESS than the base mid-size model from Chevy's nearest sales competitor.

BEL AIR SEDAN $220 LESS than any competitive, American full-size car.

IMPALA SEDAN $164 LESS than the most similar model from Chevy's nearest sales competitor.
